

The STROMA & Elmhurst Energy System

Accreditation No. STRO 1090 & EES 4140

Energy Performance Certificates (EPC) are being introduced to help improve the energy efficiency of buildings.

If you are buying or selling a home you now need a certificate by law.

Since October 2008 all buildings, whenever they are built, sold or rented out, will require one. The EPC provides 'A' to 'G' ratings for the building, with 'A' being the most energy efficient and 'G' being the least, with the average to date being 'D'.

Accredited energy assessors produce EPCs alongside an associated report which suggests improvements to make a building more energy efficient.

Energy Performance Certificates 4 ALL

We offer an extensive network of Assessors who know how to provide you with a friendly, quick and professional assessment that will help with both improving your home environmentally as well as helping you sell it.

We can assist you in all aspects of the EPC market from the individual EPC to bulk EPC's.